On Friday, the New York City Wine & Food Festival hosted its annual Blue Moon Burger Bash, and Josh Capon proved he's still the chef to beat. His famed Bash Burger, served at Burger & Barrel, won the People's Choice award for the fourth consecutive year, but in a shocking upset, it tied with Guy Fieri's Bacon Mac 'n' Cheese Burger (it's as gross as it sounds: applewood-smoked bacon, four-cheese mac and cheese, ground beef, lettuce, tomato, onion, pickle, "super-melty cheese," garlic butter, and toasted brioche). Le Rivage's Paul Denamiel took home the Judges' Favorite award for his French-Onion Soup Burger. Check out a few photos from the event, straight ahead.
